Description of the Papers

Spinelli Archives. Over 100,000 documents dating from the fourteenth century to the eighteenth, from the palace archive of a Florentine family distinguished for their international banking and mercantile interests in the fifteenth century, their political activities in the city for several centuries, their patronage of religious institutions in Florence and Rome, and their association with the local silk guild. Included are the records of family members who served as papal bankers in the fifteenth century, ambassadors to the courts of Henry VIII and Charles V, churchmen, senators, and ducal employees. The collection documents social and family history, recording the day-to-day concerns of merchants, farmers, workmen, slaves, women, and children in thousands of wills, marriage contracts, personal diaries, family correspondence, grocery lists, household inventories, farm reports, tax statements, and business ledgers. In addition to the papers of the Spinelli family members, the Spinelli Archive also includes extensive documentation on the Baldocci, Guardi, Buonguglielmi and many other Florentine families.

For the purposes of cataloging and description, the Spinelli Archives has been divided into the following groups:

The Spinelli Family Papers I
The Spinelli Family Papers II & III
The Baldocci Family Papers
The Guardi Family Papers
The Buonguglielmi Family Papers I
The Buonguglielmi Family Papers II
Miscellaneous Material
Parchments
Addendum
Oversize

For each of these groups, a separate finding aid has been created. The entire collection, however, is classified as GEN MSS 109, with boxes and folders numbered sequentially through the archive.

Miscellaneous Material contains small groups of papers from related families, empty wrappers (the contents of which are assumed not to be present in the archive), and various other papers.

Parchments includes selected parchments from various parts of the archive, housed separately for preservation and descriptive purposes.

Addendum includes a small number of items acquired after the bulk of the archive had been received by the library and processing had commenced.
Oversize contains oversize materials from the archive, including numerous original wrappers, the contents of which are housed in the family groups.
